OUR LINCOLN.

The wires have flashed a fearful woe All o'er our shivering land—
The news that Lincoln's death low, Slain by a traitor's hand!

Hushed be the songs that ring so far From harps of triumph high,
For death hath claimed the brightest star That lit our country's sky.

Oh, hearts that are loyal, deep, deep be thy woe;
The leader thou lovest in death lieth low.

The joyful cry of "Richmond's ours" Falls now on careless ears,
And vict'ry's rarest, brightest flowers Are bathed in sorrow's tears.

From thoughts of triumph in the strife
We turn, with keen regret,
To know that Lincoln's sun of life In clouds of blood hath set.

Oh, hearts that are loyal, mourn, mourn the sad blow;
The leader thou lovest in death lieth low.

When treason's fires are burning warm And War's red waves dashed high,
He faced the mad, relentless storm
With calm and steady eye;

The ship of State, with skillful hand,
He steered through woes wild rain,
And broke, meanwhile, in our fair land,
The Afric's galling chain.

Oh, hearts that are loyal, deep, deep be thy woe;
The leader thou lovest in death lieth low.

Aye, now when battle's thrilling cry In silence soon shall cease, When far off in the glowing sky Bright breaks the dawn of peace,

And faithful hands they sadly crossed A hushed and still heart o'er,
Our hero to the world is lost,
Our Lincoln is no more.

From hearts that are loyal let bitter tears flow;
America loved him, and deep is her woe.

Oh Ruler, great, and good and grand, Worthy our love and trust,
To-day for thee a mourning land Has bowed herself in dust;

But mingled with the bitter grief Which fills each loyal vein, Runs hate for those by whom our chief So cruelly was slain.

Oh! no wild words will we say,
This "costly blood" who shed;
"Vengeance is mine. I will repay;"
A righteous God hath said.

April 15th, 1865.

DEATH AT THE SUMMIT.

Abraham Lincoln, "mortuus pro patria," April 14th, 1865.

To every man—Horatio said—Death cometh soon or fallow late;
But only be the blow should dread Who begs, not dares, his fate.

To every man some post is given Where honors point or duties call;
And if his doom is writ of heaven,
'Tis there that he should fall.

No matter if the battle shout Drowns the last inspiring sob of breath, Or woman's feeble wail moans out Round some flushed bed of death.

No matter if the strong hand holds That moment, grasp of duty's helm, Or if soft joys the limbs enfold,
Or midnight slumber welms.

No matter—so the path is clear,
No matter—so the will is strong.
No matter if the doom is near,
No matter if the wail is long.

To die in God's good time is gain, Whether He takes in loving peace—Or murderous stroke of hand and brain Makes quick and sad surcease.

But oh, to die with labor done—
That labor that the whole world willed, Or with the goal so nearly won All hold the task fulfilled.

To have gained a victor's glory Then crowned it with the bitter tear
Of a great mercy's trust and faith Brightening the world's air.

To know the midnight gone at last,
To see the daybreak clear and calm,
To know that o'er the black vales past
The morning breathes its balm.

To stand upon the mountain's top,
Such toil just closed, at such an hour,
And cloudward, whence God's blessings drop, Hear man's sweep up with power.

And then and there to die! To rest!
Marbled in fame—embalmed in good!
The past (once doubted) praised and blest,
The future understood.

No heat and burden of to-day Stretching its vista on before—The immortals seizing mortal clay, As Moses once they bore—

Death at the summit! Not death!
A happy spotter's

That men might seek with praying breath A thousand years, and miss!

And when ye hunt his murderers down—
Men who his mantle humbly bear—
And blast them with a nation's frown,
And limb from carcass tear,—

Do it because the nation's pride And God's quick justice this demand—That never more the regime May lift his reeking hand!

But do it not in hot revenge,
For one unfeeling by the blow,
Who at the summit found a change That only God can know.

And when ye shroud your halls in gloom,
And raise the prayer, and drop the tear,
And bear him to his western tomb,
A nation round his bier—

Weep for the country, if ye must—
For manhood, murder-stained and dim;
But dwarf not judgement, truth and trust,
By shedding tears for him!

HENRY MORFORD.

ODE FOR THE FUNERAL OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Oh, slow to smite and swift to spare, Gentle and merciful and just!
Who, in the fear of God didst bear The sword of power—a nation's trust

In sorrow by thy bier we stand, Amid the awe that hushes all,
And speak the anguish of a land That shook with horror at thy fall.

Thy task is done—the bond is free,
We bear thee to an honored grave, Whose noblest monument shall be The broken fetters of the slave.

Pure was thy life; its bloody close Hath placed thee with the sons of light Among the noble host of those Who perished in the cause of right.

WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

THE INCOME TAX OF 1864.

The time is drawing near when the returns of income for 1864 must be made to the United States assistant assessor, and we are glad to see that the work bids fair to be done more intelligently and thoroughly than it has ever been before. The returns must be made on or before the first Monday of May; and the assessors have received blanks—those for this district have just arrived—which they will send to those subject to the income tax as far as known, they are by no means obliged to do this; and it will be no excuse for a man not giving in his income, that he did not receive a blank. All who fail to make the requisite returns may be assessed by the assessors according to the best knowledge they can get, and then add twenty-five per cent. to the amount of the tax. If any person makes a fraudulent return, the assistant assessor can make out a list himself and add one hundred per cent. to the tax, and for this there is no appeal. Due notice will be given when the taxes are ready for collection, and all must be paid by the 30th of June.

The blanks sent out by the assessor cover three sides of a foolscap sheet, and the sources of income and the property and legal deductions are given so fully and clearly that there is very little chance of making a wrong return, unless it is done purposely and with an intention to defraud. The questions are very minute and searching, and are intended to reach all the evasions or commissions known to have occurred in former years; and there is left no excuse for the blundering and ignorance which have been displayed in former income assessments, both by assessors and people. To begin with, assessors are instructed to ask the following questions:

Had your wife any income last year?
Did any minor child of yours receive any salary last year?

Have you included in this return the income of your wife, and salary received by minor children?

Have you any stocks and what are they?

Is your report made on the basis of gold?

Have you bought or sold stocks or other property?

Have you any United States securities?

Have you kept any book account?

Is your income estimated, or taken from your book?

Have not the expenses, etc., claimed as deductions, already been taken out of the amount reported as profits?

Did you estimate any portion of your profits in making your return for 1863?

Was any portion treated as worthless, and if since paid, have you included it in this return?

Then follow blank forms with printed directions for filling them out, making it easy to come at the conclusion to what a man's taxable income is. It will be remembered that the tax this year is five instead of three per cent. on incomes less than $5,000, and above that sum ten per cent. The income of wife and minor children from whatever source, must be included in making the returns, and the lawful deduction of $300 will be deducted but once from the income of the family. The gains on stocks or other property sold are to included, and losses are to be deducted.

The premium on the gold interest of government securities is also part of the income, and should be returned.

The principal deductions allowed are, $300 for family expenses and house-rent, if actually paid. Some have supposed from the wording of the law that if a man lives in his own house he could also take out the rental value, but such is not the case. The interest on the homestead, which would be taxed if the house were rented, is the equivalent secured by the owner for the rent, and to deduct the interest value and a rent value besides, would make a double deduction, whereas the man who hires a house only has one deduction, the sum he actually pays. All taxes paid during the year are to be deducted, including the two income taxes paid last year, also interest paid, insurances, repairs, and the necessary expenses of carrying on business, are to be deducted from the gross amount before the taxable income, and all of which is clearly stated in the assessors' blanks. The income from bank, railroads, and insurance companies, where the income tax has been withheld by the companies, must be returned with the rest, and there will still be a balance to pay, for before the amendments of the last session went into effect, the tax withheld on dividends was but three per cent., whereas the tax as it now stands is five per cent., and the difference must be paid by the stockholders.

The returns for the annual tax on carriages, watches, musical instruments, &c., must be paid at the same time with the income returns. All carriages are taxed from $1.00 to $10.00; gold watches, $1.00 each, if worth less than $100.00, and $2.00 if worth more than $100.00; musical instruments from $2.00 to $10.00; yachts from $5.00 to $100.00; private billiard tables, $10.00; gold plate, 50 cts. per ounce Troy; silver plate 5 cts.—Springfield Republican.

From the Clinton Republican.

THROAT DISEASES.

MESSES. EMBROUS.

Permit me to call the attention of your numerous readers to a few facts relative to throat diseases. From the most remote ages to the present, it has always been characteristic of humanity to allow evils to assume alarming dimensions before any means are adopted by which they may be cured. To drain the city of London it cost thousands of lives as it was not until after the plague that it became imperative to rid that great metropolis of its filth and mire. Cases of small-pox must first appear in our midst, before we can make up our minds to the necessity of getting our children vaccinated. Our farmers must first lose one of their valuable horses before they can discover any particular benefit in bolts, locks or keys. Slavery has been allowed to drag its huge length along until hundreds of thousands have been compelled to bite the dust where once the lash resounded, and the cry of the bond-man went up to heaven. Diseases creep in among us and run riot for years before we make any efforts to check their inroads upon our life blood, or to utter one faint cry for help.

The prevalence of throat affections throughout the land is but another instance of our submission to tolerate evils as a matter of course, rather than seek to remedy them by timely and well directed efforts. Almost every one we meet complains more or less of trouble in this particular region, which is subject to a greater variety of disorders than any other locality in the nature of man. In running over the catalogues, we have Tonsillitis, Pharyngitis, Tracheitis, Parotitis, Bronchitis, Deph-teritis, Goutre, Canker and Aphthous Affections, with a host of others, too numerous to mention, all of which are allowed to prey upon this delicate structure, and to weaken its powers of vitality as we pass from one generation to another. This pre-disposition has been handed down from parents to children until we have ushered in that malignant malady termed diphtheria, and a still more formidable variety may await us in the future. At the present time there are more deaths among the rising generation from throat affections than from any other disease. What then remains for us to do? How are we to protect ourselves against so dangerous an enemy? The answer to these questions will be plain when we enumerate some of the causes, among which are exposure to cold, dampness, night air, and the sudden changes from heat to cold, and vice versa. One very important condition of health is that the temperature of the body should be uniform, and those parts which are the farthest removed from the heart, such as the upper and lower extremities ought to be most protected. But fashion dresses our children with but little protection for the neck and arms, and a thin stocking on the legs, while other parts of the body are covered with three or four different articles of dress.— When we clothe our children properly —when we prohibit the occurrence of soaking wet feet—when we put as much covering on their necks as we do on their backs—when we keep them from exposure to night air, and educate them to the extremes of heat and cold —then and not till then, shall we be able to mitigate those diseases which carry their thousands to a premature grave. There is one other cause to which we have already alluded, viz: the pre-disposition which the child inherits from our parents. Some people submit to a chronic affection of the throat during their whole lives, and many others are victims to it, because they have not been able to conquer it under the treatment which they have pursued; but our opinion, backed up by many years' experience, is that all ordinary cases readily submit to proper remedial agents. The evils consequent upon chronic affections of the throat are very much underrated, and very often we assign other causes for our decline in health, when it may be attributed to this alone. Should it be asked; how can a local matter of this kind interfere with the general health? We reply that all the air we breathe comes in contact with the throat before it enters the passage to the lungs and must necessarily become impregnated with foul emanations from an ulcerated condition of the part. Every inspiration is therefore charged more or less with impurities; hence the patient is constantly breathing foul air; the tendency of which is to break up the healthy condition of the blood, and to produce general debility. Many look upon a slight irritation of the throat as a matter of but little consequence, and as long as they are able to swallow their food and attend to their every day occupation, so long do they look with impunity upon those innovations on their health and comfort. Little drops of water form the ocean, grains of sand the mountains, armies are made out of individual soldiers, and the diseases which carry us home are generally made up from little multiplied indiscretions and repeated violations of the laws which govern our health and crown us with all its blessings.

THE BALLOT AND THE NEGRO.

But the crowning question of all, is what of the negro? He is free of a chain, but oppressed with a prejudice —delivered from one slavery, but held fast by another. But why should the negro question be a bugbear? O ye of little faith! Given two things, the negro question solves itself—the easiest of all difficult problems. Land and the ballot—land that he may support his family; the ballot, that he may support the State. Grant these to the negro, and we will offer ourselves as hostages that he will trouble the nation no more.
He will then help himself, which is better than that any man should help him.
Horace Maynard, of Tennessee, said to the Rev. Samuel J. May, of Syracuse, "the only hope for the South is in giving the ballot to the negro and in denying it to the rebel." This is plain common sense. In South Carolina for instance, half the population are white, half black. The whites are disloyal, the blacks loyal. Now, if South Carolina is to be guaranteed a Republican Government, who then are to have the ballot but the blacks? And a voice rises from the mound at Fort Wagner, saying, "give it to our friends, not to our foes!" If it needed the votes of black men to rescue the State of New York from Horatio Seymour (and except for those very votes he would have been elected) how much more would black men's majorities be needed to save Mississippi from the hands of Jeff.
Davis. Wise men over all the land are coming to this only wise view of the exigency. We are glad that Bishop Simpson of the Methodist Church, one of the strongest men of the land, urges negro suffrage as a prime duty of the hour. And how stands the government? We believed that no man in the nation better comprehends the question than the Secretary of War, and that no man's hands are safer to be trusted with its guidance toward a right settlement. And as to Mr. Johnston's attitude, it was not a vain Providence that trained a Southern loyalist in the midst of traitors, a Southern democrat in the midst of aristocrats, a Southern abolitionist in the midst of slaveholders, to be bloodshed deterred not their fanaticism but reaction and remorse will surely come.

The deathlike echo from solitary halls where once rang back the happy merriment of childish glee, the ruined frieze and the deserted hearth, their own present doom and shades of their murdered fathers and brothers—all these have entered into the lesson so plainly taught the southern people.

The morning of the 23rd we reached the Crescent city. We shall not remain many days. Many of our veterans are before Mobile, for which location we shall soon embark. The strife is even now begun. Advances this evening represent the works to be of the most formidable character, and in the preliminary engagements, our killed and wounded already number 550. Fort Spanish is invested by land and water, and Fort Blakely by land. These are the two strongest portions of the enemy's line of works, but their reduction is speedily anticipated, and you may possibly look for it by dispatches from Cairo ere this reaches you.

I was present at Ripley, Miss., with my regiment when the 7th Kansas Jayhawkers burst open the office and destroyed the library of Henry Powers. The 7th was brigaded with us when in Mississippi.

CHICAGO AND THE PRESIDENT'S DEATH.

The first of last week we visited Chicago. This great mart of trade, only second to New York City was draped in mourning for the mighty dead. It was a solemn sight to see a great city thus clothed in the emblems of sorrow.

Men lose their appetites for business. All classes, the rich and the poor mingle their tears together.

At an early hour Tuesday morning, we reached the city, and the very first thing was to proceed to the Court House where lie in state the remains of him whom we had learned to love and honor.

At this hour 6 A. M., a constant stream were pressing in, we joined in the procession. The appropriate motto first arrested our attention over the south side of the Court House.

"Illinois clasps her slain but glorified son to her bosom." Entering, we saw the magnificent catafalque. It would be difficult in the few seconds given us to describe it. It is said to exceed in costliness, beauty and splendor any like effort of the kind.

The light from a chandelier was cast upon the face of the lamented dead and revealed the deep surrounding drapery, and the coffin with its splendid and magnificent floral adornments. Grouped around the coffin were evergreens and the choicest Etruscan vases filled with red roses, Latin crosses formed by white flowers, wide borders of evergreen, a Greek cross of white camellias with a green back ground resting on the white satin lid of the coffin, a Greek urn filled with flowers, and a wreath of camellias and white lilies bedded in evergreens resting on the foot of the coffin, and interspersed among these were rare bouquets of white flowers, wreaths of flowers, and wreaths of evergreen and moss.

And there, natural as life, though evidently showing the marks of having met death by the hand of violence lies all that is mortal of one of the best rulers God ever vouchsafed to any people.

Glorious Abraham Lincoln, we mourn for thee. Nobly hast thou performed thy mission.

Leaving the Court House on the north side we read, "the beauty of Israhel is slain upon the high places."

Going up Lake street, we saw a beautiful sight; at the statue of Lincoln is an angel on the wing above, bending over the mortal form to accompany the spirit in its everlasting flight to the skies. Among other mottoes we read, "Chicago's sorrow is the nation's grief." "Nations, swell the funeral cry."

"He won the wreath of Fame, and wrote on memory's scroll a deathless name."

"Thou art a monument without a tomb."

"Sacred to the memory of A. LINCOLN: Born, February, 1809. Died, April 15, 1865."

"Thy task is done—the bond is free; We bear thee to an honored grave, Whose noblest monument shall be The broken fetters of the slave."

It was a grand walk down Michigan Avenue from the Soldier's Home, one mile and a quarter to Park Row.

On our left, the expansive waters of Lake Michigan. On our right massive piles of architecture, the residences of the millionaires of Chicago robed in mourning, and presenting hundreds of mot-toes. At the end of our walk is the grand arch. Here the remains of the President were received from the funeral car.

"This arch is of triple Gothic form, fifty-one feet in span, sixteen feet deep and eighteen feet from the ground to the centre of the main arch, which is thirty feet in span and twenty-four feet wide. The side arches are eight feet wide and twenty feet high. The total height of the central arch and pinnacles from the ground is about forty feet. These arches present their front elevations toward Michigan ave., and the Lake. On this side they are supported by clusters of hexagonal columns resting upon single bases. There are four sets of columns on each front. On the spaces between these columns are let in Gothic windows beautifully draped, which adds greatly to the solemnity of their general appearance. Over the centres of each of the arches on both fronts are large and imposing American shields, from which hang draped national flags in graceful festoons. From these flags mourning drapery entwines about different portions of the arches up to the pinnacles in the centre. The lower portion of the arches is also heavily draped in black and white beautifully arranged. Fifty flags in all form the drapery and surmount the arches. On each pediment of the central arch is placed a bust of the lamented dead, and upon each main front resting upon the pinnacles above the festoons is seen a magnificent eagle. Underneath the eagles and above the busts the drapery takes the form of the sun's rays, as if they still lingered upon the corpse. Upon the faces of the arch, in black and white, are the following inscriptions:

"We mourn the man with heaven-born principles." "The same man when dead shall be honored." "The brave man may fall, but not yield."

"Let justice be done though the heavens fall." "Loyalty binds; liberty restrains." "And 'oemented with blood the Union shall endure forever." The whole is surmounted by clusters of national flags appropriately arranged and suitably draped. The residents along Michigan ave., displayed the most impressive insignia of grief upon the fronts of their respective dwellings with the following among other mottoes:

"Mournfully, tenderly, bear on the dead." "In sorrowing grief the nation's tears are spent." "Humanity has lost a friend, and we a President."

"Ours the cross, thine the crown." Many of the trimmings were of an elaborate character. On the front of one house was the bust of Abraham Lincoln, supported by black velvet studded with thirty-six golden stars, with the motto: "We loved him much, but now we love him more." The upper windows were adorned with massive bows of crape, and in the balconies upon a black grounds were crossed American flags surrounded by golden stars. The palace of Bishop Duggan displayed the national banners of Ireland and America. An attractive living feature of the display was a number of young ladies in the front balcony, uniformly dressed in white with pendant tassels of black.

We saw the funeral car. It was most beautifully and appropriately adorned. It was under the direction of the distinguished Superintendent of our Central Road, R. N. Rice. We repeat the motto read in front of one of the most tasteful dwellings on the avenue. "Mournfully, tenderly bear on the dead" to his final resting place, in his old and honored home. The people's champion, the people will throw countless ages rever thy memory and honor thy works and words.

CURRENT EVENTS.

The English press teems with expression of regret and sympathy, and large meetings have been held over the assassination of Lincoln. Some action will probably be taken upon it in Parliament. Beverly Tucker and Geo. N. Sanders have written notes denying their complicity in the conspiracy and accusing Andrew Johnson with plotting to murder their Christian (?) President. The Government, however, is able to produce such proof of the guilt of Jeff. Davis and these leaders that no foreign nation can refuse to give them up. The last known of Davis he was at Pamilton, Ga. He is pretty well hemmed in, and his capture is considered almost certain. The trial of the conspirators commenced on Tuesday, and still continues, but all newspaper reporters are excluded. The greatest panic prevails among witnesses for fear of assassination for giving their testimony, if their names and residences are made public. It seems that Mr. Johnson's views in favor of the Monroe doctrine, are not to interfere with the national policy of neutrality with regard to Mexico. Jay Cooke reports $40,387,000 as the subscription to the 7-30 Loan during the six working days of last week. The average daily subscription is now over six millions. Gov.

Crapo has appointed Thursday, the 1st day of June, to be observed as a day of humiliation and prayer throughout the State in accordance with President Johnson's proclamation.

LATEST.—The rebel Gen. Kirby Smith is still belligerent. He has issued a frantic appeal to his soldiers, dated at Shreveport, La., April 21st., to stand by the Confederacy in the hour of its adversity, and endeavors to convince them that they can save it. The new French Minister has arrived at Washington, and Secretary Seward is so far recovered as to be able to present him to the President. The Tennessee guerrillas are all surrendering.

THE SACRED CATTLE.

Below we give a short history of the herd of sacred cattle, owned by Col. Dan Rice, and which are to be exhibited in 'Dan Rice's Mammoth Menagerie' the coming season.

We are reliably informed that they were never on exhibition in Europe or this country, and this being their first season, they will no doubt create a furor, particularly among the religious portion of the different communities, where they may be exhibited. The following brief sketches may not prove uninteresting:

"History shows the Sacred Bull identified with such miraculous things, that we sometimes doubt the existence of such an animal. It is related that he was with the ancient Egyptians (as Apis) an idol of worship, as he is present with the Hindoos. It is said by Major Denham and other authorities, that the Sacred Bull is used sometimes on great occasions to enhance the interest and give importance to distinguished persons, for instance the daughter of Sheik or Sultan, about to be married, on her way to the place appointed for the solemn rites to be performed, she mounted on the Sacred Bull, extravagantly adorned with amber, silver rings, corals and all sorts of finery, her hair streaming with fat, a black ring of kohl, at least an inch wide, round each of her eyes and arrayed for this occasion. She sits astride with considerable grace guides her animal by the nose, through the cartilage of which is a leather thong which serves as a bridle. The sacred cattle bear a charming life among the weak and superstitious Hindoos, who venerate them and hold their slaughter an unpardonable sin. The Sacred Bull is particularly sanctified. He leads an easy life wandering about the villages, and even the cities, as they list, and taking their pleasure and food where they like, if not prevented by the contributions of the devout. They may be seen every day wandering at large in the streets of Calcutta, eating rice, grain and bazaar, and the utmost a native does, when he sees them honoring his goods too much, is to urge them by the gentlest hints, to taste some of the good things on his neighbor's stall."

Bayard Taylor tells us that the narrow streets of the city of Benares are obstructed in the vicinity of the temple by these sacred bulls. The place swarms with them, and they are great nuisances. They are knowing bulls, perfectly conscious of their sacred character, and presume upon it to commit all sorts of depredations. Nevertheless they are the terror of the dealer of fruits and vegetables, for although not always exempted from blows, no one can stand before their horns, and these they do not scruple to use if necessary to secure their end. Sometimes on their foraging expeditions, they boldly enter the houses, march up stairs and take a stroll on the flat roofs, where they may be seen looking down with great interest on the passing crowd below. From these eminences they take a survey of the surrounding country, calculate its resources, and having selected one of the richest spots within their circle of vision, descend straightway, and set off in a bee-line for the place, which they never failed to find. When the fields look promising on the other side of the Ganges, they march down to the river banks and prevent any passenger from going on board the ferry boats, until they are permitted to enter. They cross and remain there until the supplies are exhausted, when they force a passage back in the same manner. The gardens of the English residents frequently suffer from their depredations, and the only effectual way of guarding against them, is to yoke them at once, and keep them at hard labor a day or two, which so utterly disgusts them with the place, that they never return to it. It is also affirmed, that they carefully avoid the neighborhood of those butchers who supply the tables of the English, having observed that some of their brethren disappeared in a miraculous manner after frequenting such localities."

This sacred bull is the property of Col. Dan Rice, purchased by him from the estate of the Hon. Mr. Hume, of England. The bull is nine years old, his color is dark brown and gray, height seventeen hands, with fine symmetrical proportions, and the most heavenly and benign countenance man ever looked upon, or rather an expression which man could never have hoped to behold in any of God's creatures. Its hump is elevated to a remarkable degree and retains an upright position. Instances are spoken of, where it has attained the enormous weight of fifty pounds. He is in size a monster.

ALBION COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.

BOOK KEEPING IN SCHOOLS AND SEMINARIES.—Book-keeping by double entry when properly taught, is at once attractive as a study, unsurpassed as a means of discipline and of great practical value. It must hence, soon become a common branch of study in schools generally, and a thorough knowledge of it will of course be essential to teachers. The Albion Commercial College affords every desirable facility to persons wishing to prepare themselves for giving instruction in this important science.

The subscriber has every facility in the above branches. Special attention given to HORSE SHOEING.

The special attention of our citizens is called to the New Patent

the right for which I have purchased. The following are some of its advantages:

First.—The Goodenough Horseshoe is the first and only shoe ever offered to the public, made by machinery, based upon Nature's laws, which never lie.

This is the only Convex and Concave shoe ever made, either by hand or machinery, and is as near the natural foot as art can at present make a horseshoe.

Second.—It is a perfect non-interfering shoe. Horses require no round bar shoe where this can be had, as this shoe is formed with the ground surface immediately under the ball or rim of the foot, thus making it a pleasant blow and easy tread for horses on pavement, ice, or any kind of roads.

Third.—It is a positive preventative for interfering, overreaching, bruised or contracted heels, thrush, and all diseases of the hoof—as this shoe stimulates and expands the whole foot, keeping it healthy, and requiring no stuffing or ointments of any kind.

Local News.
During the absence of the Editor, we hope our citizens will not be backward in making us acquainted with items of interest occur-ing in our midst. Our local column must of necessity be thin, as we cannot be on the street, and at the same time attend to the business of the office. We expect a batch of "Editorial Correspondence" each week, which will be looked for by our readers with more than ordinary interest, as coming from "way down east."

Religious.
A Ministerial Association is to be held by the Methodist Protestant Society in the Advent Church, commencing on Wednesday, May 24th. Several ministers will be present and the proceedings will be full of religious interest.

We very much regret not being present at the M. E. Church, last Sunday evening. The appointment for a lecture from Miss Comstock entirely escaped our memory, until we saw the immense crowd pouring out at the close; then we could account for the attendance at the other churches. We are told the lecture was very affecting and full of interest.

Rev. Mr. Johnson of Burlington, Iowa, the western agent for the American Baptist Publication Society, filled the pulpit of the Baptist Church last Sabbath evening, and gave an earnest appeal in behalf of the soldiers and Freedmen, through the benefits of that association. Rev. Mr. Hewitt will resume his course of sermons on the historical portion of the Bible, next Sabbath evening. We believe the subject is Noah's Ark.

Telegraph Office.
Poles have been planted and the wires laid from the junction of the railroad and the main, down Congress Street, across the lower bridge, and terminating in the store now used as the Express office, a few doors east of Huron street. Here in future all the local telegraph business will be transacted. Mr.
J. M. Crane is operator and Express agent.
This brings our telegraph and Express offices immediately into the business centre of the city, and is a decided improvement.

A Handsome Fence.
Messrs. A. H. Goodrich, and D. L. Quirk are enclosing their residences on Huron St., with a new fence that is indeed a credit to our city. It is mainly of wood, but moulded and sanded to imitate cast iron. It has elegant iron gate posts, and is bolted with iron clamps to large square stone posts sunk three feet into the ground. For durability it cannot be surpassed, and we have seen nothing so tasty. We are told its cost was $30 per rod. Great is "it."

An Error.
We understand regarding the stealing affair spoken of in our last, that Mr. Davis' boy had nothing to do with stealing the mule—neither was he arrested at all. He was en-cited into rummaging the pockets of Mr.
Cooper's coat, which they found hanging up in his ash and blind factory, but the $25 being in the shape of a note, it was recovered.
A few days afterwards, Chas. Kinsley was engaged with some other boys in driving off Mr. Kinyon's mule and was arrested, but released on Monday.

Internal Revenue.
The Internal Revenue Law requires all persons liable to take a license, to make their applications on the first of May of each year; and also requires all persons to make a return of their income to the assistant assessor, by the 1st of May, or they become liable to be assessed by the assistant assessor as he may think proper. All persons had better attend to this and save themselves trouble.

Dan Rice.
Is to be here next Friday. The odium attached to "circuses" should not deter our citizens from going to see one; and taking their children, for, be it understood, it is not a mere circus, but a well selected and complete Menagerie also, from which will be derived a vast amount of instruction as well as amusement.

The Country Strong.
The subscription to the National 7-30 loan for last week amounted to over $40,000,000.
Now is your time, Fellow citizens. Pour in your subscriptions. You can get them at our National Bank. In a few days it will be too late.

Throat Diseases.
Let none who are afflicted with throat diseases fail to read the card and letter of Dr.
Chautier of Detroit published in this paper.
His success in the treatment of throat disease is said to be unbounded.

Employment.
Notice the advertisement of D. B. Chamberlin, headed "30 a day." He has a good thing, and those desiring light and remunerative employment will do well to call upon him immediately.

It is reported in the English papers that a marriage is on the tapis between Prince Humbert of Italy, eldest son of Victor Emmanuel, and the third daughter of Queen Victoria.

the Chicago Sanitary Fair, which opens May 14, 1865. Vegetables sent immediately will not be returned until the opening of the Fair but will be forwarded to the army. The store formerly occupied by Mr. Brooks, at the Depot, has been obtained for storage, and access can be had to it, upon application to Mr.
E. F. Uhl. It is hoped that a hearty response will be made to this call, so that the society may be able, during the coming week, to make a generous shipment to our Soldier Boys.

Butler's Fiasco
At Fort Fisher, was scarcely a greater failure than is daily made by most of the advertised hair dyes, nor was TERRY & PORTER'S VIC-TORY more complete, perfect and glorious, than this conquest achieved by CHRISTADO-RO'S HAIR DYE over grey, red, and sandy heads of hair. The obnoxious hue is wiped out in five minutes, and a magnificent brown or black, glossy, and natural, takes its place—

A few reasons why the American Watch is the Best.

It is made on the best principle, while the foreign watch is generally made on no principle at all. The foreign watch is mostly made by women and boys, by hand. While their labor cheap, their work is dear at any price. Such watches are made without plan, and sold without guarantee. They are irregular in construction, and quite as irregular in movement. They are designed only to sell, and the buyer is the party most thoroughly sold. Those who have kept "uncies," "tepinies," "Swiss levers," in perfect repair for a few years will appreciate the truth of our statement.

THE PLAN OF THE AMERICAN WATCH.—Instead of several hundred little pieces, screwed together, the body of the American Watch is formed of solid plates. No jar interfere with the harmony of its working, and no sudden shock can throw its machinery out of gear. In riding, or any business pursuit, it is all held together as firmly as a single piece of metal. It is just what all machinery should be—solid, Accurate, 24, Simple, 3d, Strong, 4th, Economy.
We not only secure cheapness by our system but quality. We do not pretend that our watch can be bought for less money than the foreign make believes, but that for its real value, it is sold at one-half the price.

OUR SOLDIER'S WATCH (named Wm. Ellery) is what its name indicates—Solid, Substantial, and always reliable—warranted to stand any amount of Marching, Biding or Fighting.

OUR NEXT HIGHER QUALITY OF WATCH, H.
(named P. S. Bartlett) is similar in size and general appearance, but has more jewels, and a more elaborate finish.

OUR 12 DIES' WATCH, recently brought out, is put up in a great variety of patterns, many of them of rare beauty and workmanship is quite small, but very neat and warranted to keep time.

OUR YOUNG GENTLEMEN'S WATCH is neat, not large, and just the thing for the pocket of any American.

THE PROOF of the merits of our Watch, may be found in the fact that we now employ over seven hundred workmen in our factories, and that we are still unable to supply the constantly increasing demand.

OUR THREE-QUARTER PLATE WATCH is thinner and lighter than the others we have described. Its fine chronometer balance is delicately adjusted to correct the variation caused by changes of temperature. These watches are the fruits of the latest experiments in chrono-metry, and are made by our best workmen, in a separate department of our factory. For the time keeping qualities they challenge comparison with the best works of the most famous English and Swiss makers.

A Card to Invalids.
A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of Nervous Weakness, Early decay, diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits.
Great numbers have already been cured by this noble Remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the receipt for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who feels it free to charge.

Please enclose a stamped envelope, addressed to yourself, Address

New York City.

A SINGLE BOX OF BRANDRETT'S PILLS contains more vegetable extractive matter, than 20 boxes of any pills in the world besides. 5,600 physicians use them in their practice to the exclusion of other purgatives. The first letter of their value is yet scarcely appreciated. When they are better known, sudden death and continued sickness will be of the past. Let those who know them speak right out in their favor.
It is a duty which will save life.

Our race are subject to a redundancy of vitality at this season, and it is as dangerous as it is prevalent, but Brandrett's Pills afford an invaluable and efficient protection. By their occasional use we prevent the collection of those impurities, which, when in sufficient quantities, cause so much danger to the health.
They soon clear Liver complaint, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, pain in the head, heart-burn, pain in the breast bone, sudden faintness and costiveness.
Sold by E. Sanson, Ypsilanti, and by all responsible Dealers in medicines.
Wholesale: Those wishing a fine set of whiskers, a nice moustache, or a beautiful head of glossy hair will please read the card that J. Chapman in another part of this paper. 46

Has Nature an antidote for acquired diseases? All who suffer believe they ought to know. The PLANTATION BITTERS prepared by Dr. Drake of New York, have no doubt benefited and cured more persons of Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Sour Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Sinking Weakness, General Debility, and Mental Dependancy, than any other article in existence. They are composed of the purest roots and herbs, carefully prepared, to be taken as a tonic and gentle stimulant. They are adapted to any age or condition of life, and are extensively popular with mothers and persons of sedentary habits.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.—There is a period in the age of every young girl when her character, mental and physical, seems to change. The eye becomes heavy, the musical laugh of childhood is hushed, the step loses its elasticity, and headache and listlessness replace health and merry temper. The mother generally knows the cause, and understands the coming metamorphosis of the child into the woman, but is often, very often, at a loss how to smooth the path of her young charge to obviate the too often attendant ills, how to aid nature, and anticipate pain. To such mothers, we all, we recommend the CHERO-KEE FEMALE PILLS, to be found in our columns, recommending them as an invaluable remedy of all obstructions to nature's efforts and an infallible regulator. Call for Cherokee Pills. The surest and safest in the market. Sold by all druggists.

In The Year 1845

Mr. Matthews first prepared the VENETIAN HAIR DYE; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give entire satisfaction.
The VENETIAN HAIR DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is only Fifty Cents per bottle, and it contains double the quantity of dye than those usually sold for $1.
The VENETIAN DYE is warranted not to injure the hair or scalp in the slightest degree. The VENETIAN DYE produces, any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade or wash out—one that is as permanent as the hair itself. For sale by all druggists.
Price 50 cents.

ple vegetable Balm that will effectually remove impurities of the skin, leaving it smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having bald heads or bare faces, simple directions and ination, adds from one to three per cent. more, according to the rate levied on other property.—

ally by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

will make it the great

POPULAR LOAN OF THE PEOPLE.

by the last Congress are now on the market.— This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will be subscribed for within four months, and the rate will be undoubtedly commanded a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing subscriptions to other loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Bank, State Banks and private bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions and pay. Subscribers will select
